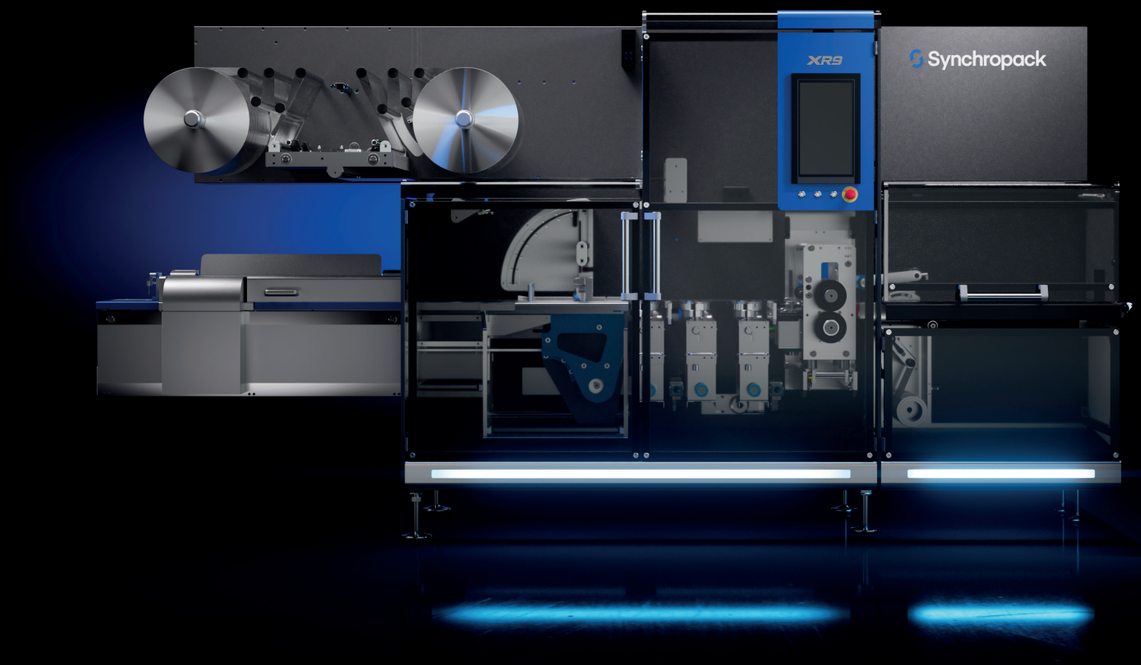
Introducing

FLOW X

A new generation of flow wrapping machines designed to deliver true flexibility in demanding, fast-changing production environments.

The Flow X Series represents a complete redesign of our platform, combining decades of experience with a new modular architecture built to meet today's and tomorrow's packaging challenges.

Designed to adapt to different products, wrapping materials and production requirements, Flow X delivers performance, efficiency and long-term investment protection.



Key Features

- Tool-free changeovers: reduced downtime
- Advanced film tension control: greater stability and less waste
- Full machine access: fast and safe maintenance
- Separated transmission system: improved cleanliness and durability
- Reinforced frame: greater robustness and reduced vibration
- Modular longitudinal sealing units
- Interchangeable cutting & sealing unit
- 15" touchscreen HMI: intuitive and user-friendly
- Electromagnetic brake: precise, clean and wear-free operation
- Available with B&R, Siemens and Rockwell automation platforms

Grow Your Machine

- Motorized film unwinder
- Film tension control
- Second reel shaft
- Automatic film splicer
- Modular infeed conveyor extension
- Modular outfeed conveyor extension
- Integration with automatic systems
- Upgrade to automatic feeding

Core Advantages

+ FLEXIBILITY

One machine, multiple applications. Quick, tool-free adjustments allow the flow wrapper to adapt to different products and pack formats while maintaining consistent performance.

+ MODULARITY

Built to evolve. Start with a base configuration and expand or change your machine by adding new modules as your production requirements grow.

+ FUTURE-PROOF

Ready for current and next-generation wrapping materials. Interchangeable sealing units and advanced film tension control enable Flow X Series to handle recyclable films, mono-materials, paper-based solutions, and future sustainable materials.
